30 April 2026

Dear Literature Officers,

Over recent months, the General Service Office has undertaken a review of literature pricing to assess current supply and operating costs across the literature service.

The review was undertaken to ensure literature pricing more accurately reflects the current costs associated with purchasing, storing, handling and distributing literature through the General Service Office. In recent years, a number of factors have significantly affected costs, particularly currency fluctuations and increases in international shipping and freight charges for imported literature.

The review also sought to bring greater consistency across pricing categories and ensure that pricing remains aligned with the actual cost of supplying literature over time.

Following this review, at the April 2026 meeting the Management Group has approved a number of pricing adjustments, with updated literature pricing taking effect from 1 May 2026.

As order processing for April 2026 has now been completed, all new orders placed from this point onward will be charged at the new pricing. Please note that existing CSO discount arrangements remain unchanged.

Attached is an updated CSO order form reflecting the revised pricing. To assist us in processing orders as efficiently and accurately as possible, we ask that all future literature orders be submitted using this updated version.

Also attached is a list of items with updated pricing. Any items not included on this list remain unchanged at their current pricing.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions.

Kind regards,

Tiani Rubal
General Service Office Manager
